Invitation to Worship

Lauren Stein

As we gather to worship, let us ask God to take away our weakness and fear, our reliance on human wisdom, and our temptation to substitute religion for faithfulness.
Let us prayerfully consider these thoughts as we listen to the prelude.

Prelude

*Invocation

Lauren Stein

Call to Worship

One: No eye has seen nor ear heard nor heart conceived the glory of what God has prepared for those who love Him.
All: We are drawn to worship by love beyond our knowing, by the secret and hidden wisdom of God.
One: God comes among us and within each one, inviting us to be salty Christians.
All: We are each important to the good work God seeks to accomplish with and through us.
One: We are called to be lights in the world and to let our lights shine brightly.
All: God expects us to reflect eternal truth and lead others to Christ's way.
One: With the humility of the apostle Paul, we offer our weakness and limited insight.
All: In our worship and in our service, we seek to demonstrate the Spirit of Christ.

Hymn No. 257 R “Tis So Sweet to Trust in Jesus”
